Since her days as Case Editor of the Yale Law Journal, she has maintained her commitment to legal scholarship and has published extensively on a variety of legal topics in books, periodicals, and journals. She currently serves on the advisory board of the Yale Law & Policy Review, and on the advisory boards of the University of Maryland and the University of Chicago law schools. Additionally, she is a Fellow of the American Bar Foundation and the Institute on Judicial Administration.

Judge Wald received her B.A. from Connecticut College for Women and her J.D. from Yale Law School. She was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and the Order of the Coif. Outstanding Professor Award

Awarded by election of the members of the third-year class in recognition of outstanding performance as a teacher.

Professor Earl Finbar Murphy

Since joining the law faculty in 1969, Professor Murphy has taken Ohio State students through the intricacies of Property, Land Use, and Environmental Law, and exposed students to varying legal experiences in his courses in American Legal History and Comparative Legal Systems. Professor Murphy's depth of scholarship, his integrative approach to law study, and his "Murphisms" are legendary among students. In 1981 he was named the C. William O'Neill Professor of Law and Judicial Administration.

Professor Murphy was among the early pioneers in the field of environmental law. His book, Water Purity, was published in 1961 as the first of his six books on environmental subjects. In the early 1970s he served on the staff of the Governor's Environmental Task Force and was the first to chair the Ohio Board of Environmental Review, which was created in 1972. He has also served as a member of the American Bar Association's Special Committees on Environmental Law and Energy Law and the Advisory Committee on Industrial Siting. Within the law school, he is advisor to the Environmental Law Society.

Professor Murphy began law teaching in 1957 at Temple University in Philadelphia after serving as a Rockefeller Fellow at the University of Wisconsin. He received his A.B., magna cum laude, and M.A. from Butler University, his J.D., with high distinction, from Indiana University, Indianapolis, and his LL.M. and J.S.D. from Yale Law School. Over his career, Professor Murphy has taught a variety of courses at four law schools. In addition to his books on environmental law, he has published over 50 articles and contributed chapters to nine other books. He is a member of various learned and professional associations in the United States and abroad.

The Juris Doctor Hood

Ceremony and symbolism share an important part of the human experience by providing tangible signs of personal achievement and commitment. Today, the investment of the Juris Doctor Hood and the presentation of the diploma case, soon to be filled with the official Juris Doctor degree of The Ohio State University, acknowledge the hard work, dedication, and exceptional academic achievement of the graduates of the Class of 1991. The investment of the hood also manifests for each recipient a continuing commitment to the values and objectives represented by the Juris Doctor degree. This ceremony marks for the members of the Class of 1991 passage from the status of student to entry into the learned profession of the law.

The wearing of the academic hood is a centuries-old tradition. It is an enduring symbol of high academic achievement, and it shall be the privilege of each recipient so invested to wear this hood and gown whenever in the future such academic attire is appropriate. The colors of the hood have their own symbolism. The color of purple represents the study of law and the conferral of the Juris Doctor degree. The colors of the hood lining represent the degree-granting institution, the scarlet and gray of The Ohio State University.

The Hooding Committee

The Student Bar Association Hooding Committee is comprised of third-year students responsible for organizing and coordinating all of the activities related to graduation, including both the December and May Hooding Ceremonies. The Committee members for the 1990-1991 academic year are: Beth Ann Finnerty and Joseph Richard Matejkovic, co-chairs; Edward D. Murray; John T. Ryerson, Jr.; Robert Zimmerman; and Susan M. Zidek (Class of 1992), Sergeant-at-Arms.

With Appreciation

We, the members of the Class of 1991, would like to express our sincere gratitude and appreciation to the following people:

To our families and friends, for your endless emotional, spiritual, and, on occasion, physical support throughout the past three years, and throughout our educational careers. Without you, we would certainly not be here today, and we thank you.

To the faculty of the College of Law, for taking us, with our different backgrounds and experiences, and turning us into attorneys. Your wisdom and experience will guide us always, and in our practice, we will strive to live up to the example of professionalism that you have set for us.

To the staff and administration of the College of Law, for your support and assistance. You have made the past three years more bearable for all of us.

The Class of 1991

The Class of 1991 shares a unique link to the College's first class that began legal study nearly one hundred years ago. These graduates are the beneficiaries of a proud heritage and the initiators of a second century of achievement by the College and its alumni.
